

Twitter Assignments

Assignment 2: Synopsis

For our third session (week 4), your Twitter assignment is to summarize some forty to sixty lines from The Miller's Tale (individual line ranges are assigned in class). We will repeat this format with later texts as well. The length of your tweet should reflect the amount of important narrative content relayed in the passage. In addition to the tweet proper, add the line numbers as well as your name and character count. Example:

A carpenter (later named John) lodges a lecherous student and astrology aficionado named Nicholas. (3187–220; Paul Langeslag, 98 chars)

When posting your summary online, make sure to place it in the correct chronological position, so that the final document constitutes an accurate summary of the text.
